
Seventy-Seven Days of Mercy

Day Eleven

Samerah Alinejad (right) and her husband Abdolghani (left) remove the noose from their son's murderer after pardoning him just moments before he was to be executed in Iran in 2014.

“We don’t forgive people because they deserve it. We forgive them because they need it—because we need it.”

Bree Despain