

“Hatred is a low and degrading motion and is so poisonous that no man is strong enough to use it safely. The hatred we think we are directing against some person or thing or system has a devilish way of turning back upon us. When we seek revenge we administer slow poison to ourselves.”

Thomas Dreier

Seventy-Seven Days of Mercy

Day Fifteen

